

Stronger cooperation and mutual assistance to tide over the difficulties

疫情当下守望相助

PROFESSOR DR. KRASAE CHANAWONGSE MD.,

President of Krirk University

At 20 May 2020 13:00-15:30(UTC+7) online

Ladies and Gentlemen

It is my great honor and please me to share with you about the measure and management of Covid-19 in Krirk University. We have had done everything we can to follow the guidance of the Thai Government and the Ministry of Health for implementation such as using alcohol gel, hand-wash facilities, Mask and social spacing etc.

At the same time we are lucky to have the good opportunity to learn from china's success in controlling the epidemic virus. The Chinese leadership in leading the treatment and control the Covid-19 has been very effective. The Chinese people are also very good discipline.

As a medical doctor and a professor of public health myself, I have learned a lot from the management and prevention of the Pandemic virus situation in Wuhan and the other city of China. From my personal observation I can make a conclusion of China's success as follows :

1. Technically sound

- China has used all kinds of technology to support public health teams to make the control of disease effective and effective and efficient.

2. Socially acceptable

- The participation of the Chinese people has been highly appreciated.

3. Economical + Financially

- The Chinese government has spent a lot of money for the good health and safety of the people.

4. Fully participated by all departments and communities.

- Every party concerned and government agencies and private sector has given good cooperation and support the government policy. WHO is also participated in the virus control management of China

The New Normal of the world in the future will be very surprising and exciting for changes to human and environment. China will take leadership in the application of New Technology in public health and Medical care for Humanity and people of the world.
